LABOR DAY MESSAGE FROM DON DUNSTAN.

This Labor Day we confidently look forward to the attainment of a cherished goal - the return of an Australian Labor Party Government in Canberra.

A Federal Labor Government will be able to effect the reforms which are vital if we are to get a fair share of national prosperity for workers and social justice for all.

In South Australia, the State Labor Government is continuing to push ahead with legislation to protect workers through improved job safety, compensation for injuries, industrial relations and apprenticeship legislation.

This has been achieved only through constant communication and liaison between the trade union and parliamentary wings on the Labor movement.

Indeed, I think that no State has a finer tradition of harmony and co-operation between these sectors than ours.

Continued co-operation at this level will be a major factor in securing A.L.P. Government in Canberra as well as Adelaide, Perth and Hobart.

Unionism is vital to the reforms we all believe essential in Australian society today, and the trade unions have made, and will continue to make, an indispensable contribution to achieving them.
